Centralized Management

Multiple agents for Windows can be managed centrally from Acronis Management Server, along with other agents such as agents for Linux, VMware vSphere, or Hyper-V.

Fast and Easy Backup & Restore

Acronis disk imaging technology creates an image backup of entire machine in minutes. File-based backup can be used to protect data on network shares. The image backup can be easily recovered to a bare-metal machine in minutes.

Backup to the Acronis Cloud

Save or stage backups to Acronis Cloud Storage for an extra level of data protection.

KEY FEATURES

- Disk Image Technology
Disk-level snapshots save complete images of a disk or volume in one simple step (including the operating system, applications, and data). This technology works for both physical and virtual machines.
- Centralized Management
Our unified dashboard lets you manage all backup operations for both physical and virtual machines from a single, central location. Assign backup plans to one or more machines, review status updates, and receive alerts—all from one console!
- Business Applications Protection
Our patented disk image technology enables consistent backup of running applications. This allows you to backup Exchange, SQL Server, SharePoint, and Active Directory data as you work. Granular application data may be restored without taking systems offline, protecting your business from expensive downtime.
- Compression and Deduplication
Deduplication can be run on either the source or target side to minimize data movement and maximize utilization of storage and network infrastructure. This helps reduce storage costs and minimizes network load.
